

Africa's diverse birdlife

von Claudia Kleemann

With interesting and colourful feathers throughout the year

Africa's birdlife is extremely diverse. In addition to smaller colourful species such as finches and starlings, there are smaller and larger parrots. Their beaks also vary greatly from small pointed shapes to curved or broad ones. The largest but flightless ostrich also lives in Africa. With the help of AI, I have put together a colourful selection of interesting African birds. Enjoy these beautiful creatures all year round.

Africa's diverse birdlife

With interesting and colourful feathers throughout the year
2026

